PERFIL

In 2010 I obtained the title of Architect, and I practiced the profession both, in a relationship of dependency as well as independently. In this way, I was generating multidisciplinary professional societies, according to the type of work required in each case, but I was always focused on the interpreting needs of the principal, to provide responses that are appropriate in terms of architectural project design, constructive / financial functionality and consistency, I am passionate about exploration with new materials and alternative solutions, since today it is vital when giving answers. In parallel, I developed until 2017. as a teacher at the Faculty of Architecture and Urbanism, National University of Tucumán, Argentina, in the subject Morphology III, the same oriented to critical analysis of paradigmatic and significant works of architecture for the world and professional work. At the beginning of 2019 I applied for an international Master's scholarship at the Escuela Superior de Arquitectura, University of Navarra, Spain; where I got the finalist merit and the awarding of 50% of the same, not being able to take the same due to the fact that Argentina is in a deep economic crisis, and the exchange difference would not allow me.

On 2019 i moved to Buenos Aires city, and currently I am developing the postgraduate thesis on Preservation and Conservation of the Architectural Heritage University Torcuato DiTella, and I am working on Subways of Buenos Aires.

I am very enthusiastic, I enjoy learning and experimenting with work teams.

In my free time, I take English classes and jewelry, I like to visit museums and ride a bike
