

The motivation to enter to the IE Master in Business for Architecture and Design (MBArch) or IE Master in Strategic Interior Design (MSID)

I have always dreamt of pursuing architecture since the age of 13. At the time I was fascinated by how spaces affect people and lifestyle, how it merges science and art together, creating spaces that make people feel a certain way. Raised by a single mother since the age of 8 years old, I knew I had to work hard to achieve this path of pursuing architecture as finance was a problem in the family.

Looking back there is not a single thing that I would change. Knowing that I had to work harder than everyone else led me to be the person that I am today. I took that fire inside of me, pushed myself, won a scholarship to a private university in my country, graduated with my bachelor's degree with a 4.00 GPA for my final semester with a cumulative 3.65 GPA overall.

I plan to pursue a Masters in Architecture and I will do everything to the best of my ability as I will persevere and run towards the finish line. I feel very blessed that I am given the opportunity to participate in winning a scholarship to IE School of Architecture and Design to help fulfill my dream and I will prove that I do have what it takes to not only be a successful student, but an outstanding architect. I believe that the exposure in an unfamiliar and prestigious environment would open up my eyes to a vast knowledge of the art of architecture. I hope to be able to impact people's perception of the beauty of architecture and to make the world a better place.
