This edition also demonstrates robust interest for the intersection of Business, Entrepreneurship and Innovation applied to Architecture, and for the reflection about how to push the boundaries of our realm and contribute to the future role of architects in society, all of which conforms the core mission of the Master in Business for Architecture and Design at IE.

The competition entries have been evaluated considering the quality of the architectural projects, the motivation letters stating the vision of candidates about the potential of business expertise in architecture, and the professional profile of applicants. The jury has assessed the entries considering a global and professional context and future that demand a more impactful, more balanced and more ample understanding of the architectural profession, to affect positive change.
